What I understood from file :

This page consists of:-

Header

Main Body

Footer

I understood from f-salon web-page is it divided in three section header , main body ,footer . the header part of f-salon is consists of (home,service, about us blog media and press.) and it divied in many categories. In main-body they give first brief introduction about salon like makeup ,haircut, and all facility they have in their salon .they also divied their web-page in section like (men section , woman section ,blog section ,Schedule Your Appointment,Beauty Parlour Course,International Cosmo Tech Long Term Certificate Courses,Online Course FAQs) This webpage is fully responsive and features many transitions, such as zoom effects that revert to their original shape. Videos play seamlessly between text sections. Each section has options for viewing more details, allowing users to click and explore or revert using a reset button if they prefer. In footer part will acompass Quick Links ,contact us and their social media link ,store link .This website is easy to navigate, making it accessible for many customers to visit and take advantage of its features. Numerous clients know about this salon and frequently visit it, benefiting from the convenient and user-friendly design.

Conclusion

I'm excited to start this online internship and want to thank everyone for this great opportunity. As part of my work, I've created a web page for a salon with three main parts: Header: This has the salon's logo and a menu to help users navigate the site. Main Body: Here, I've included information about the salon's services, prices, and special offers. It's easy to read and has nice images. Footer: This section has contact information, social media links, and extra navigation options. I'm looking forward to working with the team and contributing to the company's success. Thank you again for this chance! I am thrilled to start my online internship as a web developer with you . I promise to give my best effort and contribute 100%. I am here to learn and gain as much experience as I can in web development. Thank you for this amazing opportunity!
